

SCIENCE BIT

Glue is made of long molecules (groups of atoms) called polymers. When glue and eyewash are mixed, the polymers stick together. This turns glue from a liquid into a bouncy, stretchy solid.

MAY STAIN!